Follow-up to the 30th International Conference 2007-2011

Introduction

1. Background information

The 30th International Conference of the Red Cross and Red Crescent was held in Geneva in November 2007 and brought together representatives from 178 recognized National Societies, 166 States party to the Geneva Conventions, the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (International Federation), and 65 observers.

The members of the Conference adopted six resolutions. Resolution 1, paragraph 5, requested the ICRC and the International Federation to report to the 31st International Conference on the follow-up given by members to the resolutions and pledges adopted by the 30th Conference.

The ICRC and the International Federation have produced a report on the follow-up to the 30th International Conference, basing it on the information received from members before 31 July 2011 (although responses to the questionnaire were received and registered up to 30th September<sup>1</sup>). The report will be presented to the 31st International Conference in plenary.

Resolutions adopted by the 30th International Conference

The six resolutions adopted by the 30th International Conference highlighted crucial humanitarian issues and set out priorities and objectives to be met in addressing the most urgent challenges facing the world.

Resolution 1 and its Declaration "Together for humanity" recognized the need to intensify operational interaction and partnerships among Conference members, and with other institutions as well as with the media and the private sector, in order to address the humanitarian consequences of the following four great challenges:

environmental degradation and climate change;

humanitarian concerns generated by international migration;

violence, in particular in urban settings;

emergent and recurrent diseases and other public-health challenges, such as access to health care.

The five other resolutions adopted were:

Resolution 2: "Specific nature of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement in action and partnerships and the role of National Societies as auxiliaries to the public authorities in the humanitarian field";

Resolution 3: "Reaffirmation and implementation of international humanitarian law";

Resolution 4: "Adoption of the Guidelines for the Domestic Facilitation and Regulation of International Disaster Relief and Initial Recovery Assistance";

Resolution 5: "Follow-up to the implementation of the Memorandum of Understanding of 28 November 2005 between the Palestine Red Crescent Society and the Magen David Adom in Israel"; and

Resolution 6: "Date and Place of an International Conference of the Red Cross and Red Crescent in 2011."

Conference members were not asked to provide information in the questionnaire on Resolutions 5 or 6, owing to their specific scope. Progress towards the implementation of Resolution 5 will be presented separately.

Pledges

To support and to supplement the resolutions adopted by the 30th International Conference, a number of members, acting independently or jointly, made voluntary humanitarian commitments for the period 2007-2011 in the form of pledges. These pledges further develop the themes of the four resolutions and reflect active recognition of and a particular commitment to specific Conference issues on the part of governments or National Societies. The information given in the questionnaire regarding progress made on pledges has been incorporated wherever possible in the relevant chapter of the follow-up report.

In all, 73 governments, 120 National Societies and their International Federation, the ICRC and three observers submitted a total of 314 individual and collective pledges for the period 2007-2011<sup>2</sup>. To date, 36 National Societies and 23 governments have reported on these pledges<sup>3</sup>. This lack of follow-up to the pledges constituted a challenge for the reporting process; it was difficult to draw a representative, global picture on the basis of so little information.

2. Reporting and response to the questionnaire

States and the components of the Movement (the ICRC, the International Federation and National Societies) were asked to report on the actions they had taken over the past four years to implement each resolution of the 30th International Conference by responding to a follow-up questionnaire<sup>4</sup> sent out during the first quarter of 2011. The questionnaire requested members to report on any significant actions they had taken to implement the resolutions. By "significant actions," it was understood "systematic and structured activities in the form of a project or similar"<sup>5</sup>.

The structure of the follow-up questionnaire was directly inspired by the structure of the resolutions adopted during the 30th International Conference. The ICRC and the International Federation have based the present follow-up report mainly on the actions described in the questionnaires received from Conference members. As not all States and National Societies reported on their efforts to implement the resolutions adopted by the 30th International Conference, and as the information provided was not necessarily complete, this follow-up report cannot therefore reflect the whole range of activities undertaken during the reporting period 2007-2011.

 $\frac{4}{5}$  Please refer to Annex 1 for a copy of the questionnaire is attached as Annex 1.

In order to supplement the information provided by States and National Societies, the ICRC and the International Federation also used internal reports and contributions from various relevant technical departments as well as input from field offices.

By the 30th of September 2011, 114 replies to the follow-up questionnaire had been received, including 39 responses from States party to the Geneva Convention and 75 from National Societies.<sup>6</sup> It is encouraging to note that some States and National Societies, demonstrating a spirit of constructive cooperation, submitted joint reports. A similar process was followed in advance of the 28th and 30th Conferences, where 85 and 104<sup>7</sup> questionnaires were received respectively. The table below shows the geographic distribution of the replies received (disaggregated by IFRC zone):<sup>8</sup>

	Africa	Americas	Asia-Pacific	Europe	Middle East North Africa	Total
NS replies	7	10	21	32	5	75
State replies	6	5	4	21	3	39
Total replies	13	15	25	53	8	114
Countries per zone	47	35	34	52	18	186
% NSs in zone having responded	15%	29%	62%	62%	28%	40%
% States in zone having responded	13%	14%	12%	40%	17%	20%
% Combined response	14%	21%	37%	50%	22%	30%

In total, 30 % of all National Societies and States responded to the questionnaire. The figure was substantially higher in some zones (Europe at 50%) than in others (Africa at 14%).

3. Structure of the follow-up report

The follow-up report is divided into four parts, one pertaining to each of the resolutions. The first part concerns the implementation of the Declaration "Together for humanity" and is divided into four chapters, each relating to one of the challenges:

environmental degradation and climate change (produced by the International Federation); humanitarian concerns generated by international migration (produced jointly by the International Federation and the ICRC);

violence, in particular in urban settings (produced jointly by the International Federation and the ICRC);

emergent and recurrent diseases and other public-health challenges, such as access to health care (produced by the International Federation).

The other two parts of the follow-up report concern Resolutions 2 and 3 on the issues mentioned below respectively:

Specific nature of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement in action and partnerships and the role of National Societies as auxiliaries to the public authorities in the humanitarian field (produced by the International Federation);

Reaffirmation and implementation of international humanitarian law (produced by the ICRC);

Progress on the implementation of Resolution 4: Adoption of the Guidelines for the Domestic Facilitation and Regulation of International Disaster Relief and Initial Recovery Assistance is reported in Conference document 31IC/11/5.5.1, Progress in the Implementation of the Guidelines for the Domestic Facilitation and Regulation of International Disaster Relief and Initial Recovery Assistance.

The present follow-up report cannot be exhaustive, nor can it reflect all the work undertaken during the reporting period. It was often difficult to draw general conclusions, make observations or identify trends because of the limited and sometimes abstract nature of the responses to the questionnaire. However, the main measures, activities and endeavours described in this report constitute a valuable source of information and should encourage and inspire all Conference members and other participants to step up their efforts, review their own practices and take further steps as required.

Other reports being presented to the 31st International Conference are also related to the implementation of resolutions of the 30th Conference:

Strengthening Legal Protection for Victims of Armed Conflicts;

Strengthening Normative Frameworks and Addressing Regulatory Barriers Concerning Disaster Mitigation, Response and Recovery

Culture of Non-Violence and Peace – International Migration

Enhanced Partnership – Stronger National Societies and Volunteering

The reappearance of different themes on the agenda of the 31st International Conference is a testament both to their continuing importance and to the need for long-term solutions to intractable and interdependent phenomena. It is hoped that this report and the process of self-reflection undertaken by the Conference members who gave feedback will be seen as an opportunity to renew the commitments made in the Declaration and build upon the successes of the past four years while learning from the failures.
