INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS MAKE A BEQUEST

YOUR BEQUEST WILL HELP US

meet the needs of victims of armed conflict worldwide and restore their sense of dignity and hope.

Bequests are a fundamental component of the financial support the ICRC receives from private donors.

If you choose to make a bequest, it must be written into your will. The legal formalities for this vary by country. We recommend consulting a qualified professional to ensure that all legal requirements, including those regarding your heirs, have been properly met and that your wishes are properly formulated.

Your bequest must state the ICRC's exact name and address:
International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC)
19, avenue de la Paix
1202 Geneva, Switzerland

WHEN YOU MAKE A BEQUEST TO THE ICRC, YOU ARE HELPING ...

- ▶ ... children, desperate to be reunited with their parents. Preserving families is an essential component of ensuring respect for human dignity.

Each year, the ICRC and National Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies help hundreds of thousands of people re-establish contact with their families and clarify the fate of missing relatives.

- ▶ ... communities, where a lack of basic water health infrastructure leads to high rates of death and disease.

The ICRC's engineers work to restore water and sanitation services and renovate hospitals and other medical facilities that have been damaged by armed conflict.

For detailed information on the ICRC and its activities around the world, please visit www.icrc.org. If you wish, your bequest can be earmarked for a programme or country of your choosing. Just get in touch with us, and we will ensure that your gift is used as you intended.
