1. The ICRC is a neutral, impartial, independent organization that works to protect and assist victims of armed conflict. It is not a political organization and does not take sides in conflicts.

2. The ICRC's mandate is derived from the Geneva Conventions of 1949 and their Additional Protocols of 1977. These instruments define the ICRC's role in promoting and protecting international humanitarian law (IHL).

3. The ICRC's work is based on the principles of humanity, impartiality, neutrality, and independence. These principles guide all of its activities and ensure that it can provide assistance to all victims of armed conflict without discrimination.

4. The ICRC's work is carried out in over 100 countries around the world. It provides a wide range of services, including medical assistance, protection of civilians, and promotion of IHL.

5. The ICRC's work is funded by voluntary contributions from governments, international organizations, and the public. It is not a member of the United Nations, but it has a special relationship with the UN.

6. The ICRC's work is essential for the protection and assistance of victims of armed conflict. It is a unique organization that works to ensure that the principles of IHL are respected and that the suffering of victims is alleviated.
